

Karen Armistead, Councilmember

Councilmember Karen Armistead is a life-long resident of Paulsboro, NJ. She is the single parent of her wonderful daughter Ayanna and the proud grandmother of Jadon, her grandson. For the past 21 years she has been teaching mathematics at Delsea Middle School, in Franklinville, NJ for both 7th & 8th grades. In her spare time, Council woman Armistead loves to read, cook, spend time with family and do gardening. She is very active in her ministry where she teaches Bible Study and Sunday School at Mt. Carmel Church in Paulsboro. Council woman Armistead considers herself to be a life-long-learner.

* In 2000, she received her BA in Mathematics from Rowan University.

* In 2011, she received her first Master's degree in Curriculum & Instructional Strategies from UNE.

* In 2015, she received her second Master's degree in Supervision & Administration from Seton Hall University.

* In 2019, Council woman Armistead received her certificate of eligibility for administration.

*In 2021, Council woman Armistead completed the required courses at Boulden Seminary in Wilmington, DE to obtain a Bachelor's degree in Theology.

*In May of 2021, she was ordained as a minister at the 208th session of Annual Conference for the U.A.M.E. Church by Bishop A. Scott.

More importantly, Council woman Armistead believes wholeheartedly that “Everyone deserves to have a seat at the Table.” She is grateful for the opportunity to serve the people of Paulsboro as we all look forward to a better and brighter future for our town!